About Blueprint

Founded in 2005, Blueprint is now the largest boutique LSAT prep company in the nation with one mission in mind: to make the Law School Admissions Test as fun as a test of logic could ever be, and our results demonstrate that our methods work. With a curriculum that's updated every year and an unparalleled mobile app, Blueprint students average an 11-point score increase on their practice exams.

Blueprint Chicago Classroom Course Information

Taught by an instructor who scored in the 99th percentile of all LSAT takers, the Blueprint Chicago Classroom course includes 76 hours of lectures, 24 hours of proctored practice exams, 12 hours of online clinics, and literally hundreds of additional hours of online homework explanations. The unique combination of classroom and online resources allow Blueprint students to have more learning tools at their disposal and really help them ace the test.

Information about Blueprint Online Course

Blueprint's classroom course has helped thousands of students improve their LSAT scores. But for years, it was only available in certain locations. No longer. Blueprint: The Movie 2.0 allows students to experience the amazing Blueprint curriculum from anywhere in the world. Over the 88-hour course, learn the best methods to approach every type of Logical Reasoning, Logic Game, and Reading Comprehension question on the LSAT.

Instructor Bios for Trent & Matt

Blueprint: The Movie is entirely taught by Blueprint founders Matt Riley and Trent Teti. Since they wrote the Blueprint curriculum, it is fair to say they understand the LSAT pretty well. Trent Teti scored a 174 on the LSAT and has a strong background in philosophy. He brings his knowledge of logic and analytical reasoning to the Blueprint course. Matt Riley scored a 179 on the LSAT and was accepted to law schools across the country. He has never missed a single logic games question and brings his love of games and overall mastery of the test to the Blueprint course. Between the two of them, they've sent enough students to law school to fill a medium-sized stadium.
